A STORY WORTH TELLING

Some Things Are Worth Discovering

Imagine a shop where every shelf has a story and nothing feels quite expected. At The Postcard Parlor, yesterday's treasures mingle with pieces made for today, all gathered with an eye for color, character, and a little mischief.

One corner might hold a sculptural lamp; another, a collection of pretty glassware. There are curious objects you didn't know you were looking for, and gifts too good to give away.

The pleasure is in the discovery. Go slowly, look twice, and let something wonderful catch your eye. The best finds rarely announce themselves in advance.

For the traveler drawn to personality over predictability, this imaginary boutique is an example of the distinctive independent businesses Sunshine Confidential loves to tell stories about.
